July 2018

A warm welcome from Hansford Sensors

We hope you are all well and have had a fantastic 6 months so far!

As temperatures have soared in the UK this summer, so has our production numbers!
It's great to see so much product flying out the doors!

Last month we held our first partner event in Antwerp, it was great to meet current and new faces alike. We look forward to holding another one in the future.

We hope you have a successful second half of the year!

Warmest regards,

Chris Hansford

Hansford Sensors Partner Meeting 2018

At the end of the IMVAC exhibition in Antwerp, the business hosted the first ever Hansford Sensors partner meeting. This event was attended by various partners from a wide range of industries, providing a fantastic platform to learn from each other and contribute towards future relationships.

The conference was a hugely successful event, praised by our customers:

“The event was the right opportunity to have discussions and to see really different presentations: sometimes of a high technical level complete with case studies, and some interesting sales presentations” I-Care.

Tom's continued success in 2018

Hansford Sensors-sponsored British Touring Car Championship driver Tom Ingram currently stands in second place after a successful race at Croft, at the end of June.

After a mixed bag of results from previous weeks and half way through the season, things are looking exciting and the next few months will be thrilling to watch. We are proudly supporting him and Speedworks MS all the way!

Upcoming exhibitions

Next week we will be attending the Vibration Institute Conference in New Orleans, our Vice President Martin from the US office is really looking forward to the event.

We will then be present at the next leg of the IMVAC roadshow - Australia, in August.

We look forward to seeing you there!

New members of the team!

We'd like to wish our sales support member Kelly, all the best when she goes on maternity leave this month. Kelly has been working with Hansford Sensors for over a year and is a big part of the team. She will be greatly missed but is looking forward to the next leg of her journey.

Highlights of 2018 so far

We're already halfway through the year, can't believe where that time has gone!

We had a great start to the year winning the Digital Engineering and Technology Award at the Insider West Awards. Then becoming Regional Winner of the EEF Future Manufacturing Export Award and

With Kelly's departure we would like to introduce a new member of the team, Nicola. She has just joined our sales support team and no doubt you will be meeting her soon.

Please join us in wishing them both all the best!

National Runner Up.

The last few months production numbers have been a great success with record numbers in April, over 6,400 accelerometers were made!.

We look forward to continued success next month!
